Alimentaria

We present the universe of food

Alimentaria, the leading trade show for food, drinks and gastronomy, is the major international benchmark which acts as a driving force within an ever-changing sector. A unique experience that, year after year, reflects the innovations and trends of the market to fulfil its commitment: to generate new business opportunities and synergies for professionals in the food industry and its value chain.

The most transversal and comprehensive international platform

The coming together of two sector leaders, Alimentaria and Hostelco, has enabled both trade shows to rise to their highest performance and become the largest international platform for the food industry, gastronomy and catering equipment. It covers the entire value chain and offers specific solutions for each segment, facilitating the acquisition of skills, abilities and strategies to drive and inspire companies.
